Sweeping Sands

Tottori Sand Dunes

These vast dunes are the most renowned destination in Tottori. Marvel at elegant sand markings and catch breathtaking views overlooking the Sea of Japan.

Pristine Blue Waters

Uradome Coast
[San'in Kaigan Geopark]

Stark rocky outcrops and cliffs adorn the Uradome Coast on the Sea of Japan. Stand atop white sand beaches and gaze out at the crashing waves.

Art and Nature as One

Shoji Ueda Museum of Photography

Shoji Ueda is world-renowned for his surrealist photos featuring the Tottori Sand Dunes, and here you can admire them amidst Tottori's natural splendor in all its glory.

A Trip Back in Time

Kurayoshi's Shirakabe Storehouses
[White Wall District]

Stone bridges and red roofs alongside white mortar walls create a townscape where time appears as if it had stopped in the feudal days of long ago.

A Tapestry of Flowers

Tottori Hanakairo Flower Park

Gaze upon Japan's largest collection of lilies year-round at this vast flower park, and lose yourself in the otherworldly sight of blossoms illuminated after nightfall.

Architectural Wonder

The Ishitani Residence

Dating back to the Edo period, this 40-room mansion looks out on a beautiful Japanese garden and features ornate architecture, transoms and artistic beauty.

Sculptures of Sand

The Sand Museum

The world's first indoor exhibition of sand sculptures, this gallery beside the dunes is a showcase of masterpieces made all the more beautiful by their impermanence.
